

RIDGELINE
CONSTRUCTION GROUP, INC.

CREATING THE PERFECT CUSTOM KITCHEN

TAILORING YOUR KITCHEN TO YOUR NEEDS AND STYLE

Not all kitchens are created equal. The very first question you should ask yourself when conceiving your custom kitchen is, "How do I need the space to function?" Outside of cooking delicious meals, the purpose that your kitchen will serve will have a lasting impact on its overall design layout.

For instance, if you like to entertain frequently you may want to structure the kitchen around an open and communal space that provides the ideal environment for large gatherings. On the other hand, if you are an aspiring gourmet chef who spends hours in the kitchen experimenting, the layout of your appliances and other tools will be a major design consideration when conceiving the space.

You may require a kitchen that functions for multiple purposes and an experienced designer will be able to create a space that accommodates every need. The important thing is that you go in with a plan so your vision is executed to perfection.

POPULAR KITCHEN STYLES

Thanks to social media sites, such as Pinterest and Houzz, and magazines such as Elle Decor and Southern Living, your options for finding inspiration are endless. There are some design characteristics, however, that stand the test of time.

FARMHOUSE

Features such as exposed wood, butcher-block countertops, and mixed textures give your kitchen a cozy feel that still echoes modern sensibilities. Natural color schemes lend an organic air to the space that reminds you of hearth and home.

CONTEMPORARY AND SOPHISTICATED

Clean lines, stainless-steel or glossy black fixtures, and minimalism are tried and true staples of a modern, contemporary kitchen design.

UPDATED VINTAGE

Mid-century modern inspired designs are making a comeback, and that goes for kitchens as well. The dramatic fixtures and combination of shapes associated with this style are whimsical, yet tasteful and guaranteed to make a statement.

Designing and crafting magazine-worthy kitchens is just one facet of what we do. We are full-service, contract to completion, custom home builders. We will help design the home that fits your needs and goes beyond all your wants. Schedule a consultation today to learn more about our design services and how Ridgeline Construction Group can help you achieve your dream mountain or lake home.